

SECRETARY ROOT TO INSPECT CAMP

Will Make Trip to Leesburg in Special Train Tomorrow.

CAVALRY TO MEET HIM

Will Be Given Fitting Reception—Work of District National Guard Being Whipped Into Good Shape—Boys Hard at Work and Enjoy It.

(Special to The Washington Times.)
CAMP ORDWAY, LEESBURG, Va., July 18.—Gen. George H. Harries, tonight received a dispatch from Col. L. S. Brown, of the Southern Railroad, stating that the Secretary of War, with a party of Government officials, will visit Camp Ordway on Sunday to make an official inspection. It had been reported that Secretary Root would come to camp tomorrow, but the program has been changed by the receipt of the dispatch from Colonel Brown.

The Secretary of War had intended coming to camp tomorrow over the road, but on account of an unavoidable delay at Gettysburg, where he attended the annual encampment of the Pennsylvania National Guard, he was forced to postpone his visit.

The commanding general will make arrangements to accord to the Secretary of War every honor befitting his rank. He will be met at the depot by Troops E and F of the Second Cavalry, under Captain Brett, while General Harries and his staff will also be present to welcome the officials.

It is understood that a special train bearing the party will leave Washington at 2 p. m. Sunday, and Leesburg will be reached about 3:30. The troops in camp will be formed as a double line of sentinels from the entrance to the commanding general's tent, and as the mounted escort and the guests of the camp ride in, those on duty will present arms. The special detail in charge of the battery will also fire a salute of thirteen guns in honor of the Secretary of War.

Athletics in Camp.
C. P. E. C. Edwards tonight had a conference with the commanding general relative to athletics in camp.

On Saturday field and track games will be arranged for the First Separate Battalion. On Monday, for the Second Regiment, and on Tuesday for the First Regiment.

Tonight the brigade band gave a concert in front of the commanding general's tent, and later they played on the court house lawn, where hundreds of the citizens of Leesburg listened to "Marching Through Georgia," "Dixie," and like airs.

Mr. Moody Cannot Go.

Secretary Moody, who had been expected to pay an official visit to Camp Ordway, will probably not be able to come on account of press of business. Word to this effect was received by General Harries today. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, commanding the army, will come up during the coming week, as will also Gen. Leonard Wood, former military governor of Cuba. Major W. D. Davidge, jr., went to Washington today to extend a formal invitation to the Commissioners of the District to visit camp. Last year Commissioner Macfarland, with several other District officials were guests of the camp on the first Saturday.

Comparatively Quiet.

Things have been comparatively quiet in camp today, although the regular routine was gone through with. For two hours in the morning and for the same time in the afternoon the men were given drill in extended order by the squad and section commanders. The regimental, battalion, and company commanders were out on the field to supervise the work, which was under the direct charge of Capt. L. M. Brett. The non-commissioned officers to a man showed themselves to be capable of doing the duty assigned them, and put their men through a thorough drill. Tomorrow drill will be in the school of the soldier, while on Monday and Tuesday there will be battalion and regimental maneuvers. It is more than probable that the field exercises or sham battle will take place on Thursday, instead of Friday, as last year.

During the forenoon General Harries, with the members of his staff, accompanied by Captain Brett, made an inspection of camp. Everything was found in the best of order, and the regular officers of the camp, and the guardsmen on the excellence of the camp arrangements. Special attention was given to the commissary and quartermaster's departments, which are in charge of Major E. H. Neumeier. Captain Brett praised the work being done there. Lieutenants Lynch and Harvey, of the Second Cavalry, also made an informal tour of camp, accompanied by Capt. Andrew Parker, aide-de-camp on General Harries' staff, and acting postmaster general of the militia.

Instructor of Camp.

Instructions were sent to organization commanders today announcing Captain Brett as instructor of the camp. He will have general supervision of the work of the men in extended order and otherwise look after matters about camp. He will be accorded the honors of camp instructor, including turning out the guard in his respect.

Major S. Porter House, of the First Battalion, was field officer of the day today, relieving Major Gendle B. Young at the mounting of the headquarters guard this morning. The guard mounts of the two regiments were conducted by Capt. Charles E. Swigart, of the Second Regiment, and Capt. Leroy W. Heron, Adjutant of the First Regiment. Company A, Fifth Battalion, under Capt. E. H. Brien, mounted guard for the Second Regiment, while Company D, Second Battalion, under Capt. Joseph F. Hodges, went on duty for the First Regiment. Lieut. J. Harry Bean was in charge of the headquarters guard, while Lieut. Milton J. Ernst was officer of the guard for the First Regiment, and Lieut. Jeremiah Hunt for the Second. Lieut. R. A. Foster, surgeon of the Second Battalion, was medical officer of the day.

Medical Instruction Issued.

Major George Henderson, surgeon general of the militia, has issued the following instructions to the medical officers in camp:

"A battalion surgeon will be assigned each day as medical officer of the day. Medical officers will attend sick call in their quarters; they may excuse from duty and treat patients in quarters on duty only. At the expiration of one day, if the patient is not able to be returned to duty, he will be sent to the field hospital and borne on the next morning's sick report as 'sent to hospital.'"

"The battalion surgeons will use the emergency cases in treating patients in quarters as far as possible, but when medicines are required not in cases, they will write prescriptions to the field hospital."

"All cases of infectious diseases will be held in quarters and reported to the surgeon general at once."

"The Engineer Corps, the Signal Corps, the band and drum corps will answer sick call at the field hospital."

Medical Officer of Day.

"The medical officer of the day will report to the field officer of the day after consultation with the surgeon general."

"The tour of duty will commence immediately after guard mounting and will continue for twenty-four hours. He will make at least two tours of inspection of the camp, commencing, respectively, at 8:30 a. m. and 4 p. m. Immediately prior to a being relieved from duty he will present a written report to the field officer of the day (who will forward the same with recommendations through the adjutant general to the surgeon general), covering the following subjects:

"First—The general sanitary condition of the camp.

"Second—The hygienic condition of the mess quarters. The food served to the troops, the condition of the vessels in which the food is cooked and served.

"Third—The disposition of dish water and slops; also, the disposition of garbage."

"Fourth—The sanitary condition of tents and if the weather is favorable, if they are looped as required by general orders."

"Fifth—The condition of the guard quarters and the stables."

Notes of the Camp.

So far there have been comparatively few visitors from Leesburg in camp, but by Sunday it is expected that there will be hundreds from the surrounding country as well as from Washington.

Major Frank L. Averill, chief of engineers, went to Washington today to secure equipment for the engineer corps. It is intended to start the men of this command at work this morning digging trenches along the hillside. First a hasty trench will be dug, then a kneeling trench, and then a complete trench which will permit a man to be hidden from view while standing in the trench. An officers' school, to be attended by all those in camp, will be held and they will be instructed in the methods of having these trenches dug, so that they will be able to take charge of men and supervise the details who will be put on this work. It is expected the boys will be taught digging trenches so that in case of necessity the work can be done during the field maneuvers.

Every duty which has been taken up by the guardsmen has been performed in fine style up to the present, and there promises to be no let-up in the manner of work being done. The sprinkling of a number of former United States volunteers among the various organizations has had a good effect on the other guardsmen. They do their work in a manner which is at all times systematic and the recruit or guardsman who has not had much experience in the field is not slow to follow his example.

Sunday will be a day of rest in camp. Only those duties which are absolutely necessary will be performed and religious services will be conducted in camp. The Second Cavalry, under Capt. Brett, will conduct services at 11 o'clock in the morning in the open if the weather is favorable, and will be assisted by Chaplain C. C. Pierce, of the Second Cavalry. Chaplain Walter Meyer, of the First Regiment, is not in camp this year. He is on a European trip. Sunday evening Chaplain Pierce will hold services in the Young Men's Christian Association tent.

Private James Mitchell, of Company A, Second Battalion, was found asleep at his post while on duty near the headquarters of the camp. He was awakened at 10 o'clock this morning and relieved from further duty. He was placed under arrest and taken to a guard tent, where he will remain pending action in his case. It was suggested that he be court-martialed, but it is probable that he will be let off upon the performance of two or three days' extra work. Major Charles H. Gurdan, who has special charges of all matters pertaining to the guard duty, made a tour of the camp last night to see that the men were attending to their duty. The work shows an improvement over previous years, although there is still necessity of further instruction for some of the men in their duties.

To secure uniformity in the interior arrangement of tents, Capt. A. P. Robinson, the acting adjutant general, has issued special instructions on the subject. It is directed that in the conical wall tents that the bed sacks be folded and arranged around the walls beginning at the left of the entrance. Blankets will be neatly folded and placed on the top of the folded bed sacks. Mess sacks will be placed within the haversacks, while extra clothing and shoes will be arranged neatly on top of these.

Major Gendle B. Young, Third Battalion, was in command of the First Regiment today. Col. Henry May and Lieut. Col. Burton R. Ross being relieved. Colonel Ross has not been feeling well since coming to Leesburg, and has been confined to his tent most of the time.

Camp Ordway is now connected by direct circuit with Washington, and messages can be sent at any hour of night or day. The signal corps has finished its work on the telegraph and telephone lines and the various departments of camp are now in direct communication with the commanding general's office. The switchboard has been placed in the signal corps tent. It is intended also to connect the headquarters of the cavalry force with the other offices.

INVITED TO CAMP.

Major W. D. Davidge Calls on District Commissioner Macfarland.

Major W. D. Davidge, judge advocate of the National Guard of the District of Columbia, called on Commissioner Macfarland, president of the District Commissioners, yesterday, bearing the official invitation of Gen. George H. Harries, commanding the National Guard, to the Commissioners, to inspect the camp at Leesburg.

Commissioner Macfarland said that he would try the invitation, before the Commissioners, but on account of the illness of Commissioner Ross he could not say what day it would be practicable to visit the camp. He promised to notify Major Davidge in a day or two. Major Davidge said that he would then return to escort the Commissioners to the encampment.

SHORT STORIES FROM THE SMALL AD. PAGE

Observant Citizen Declares People Like To Drop Things Just to Advertise for Them.

"My, but the people of Washington are getting careless nowadays," remarked the Observant Citizen yesterday morning. "Why, just look at the lost column in The Washington Times today—might almost think that people like to drop things just to advertise for them to see if they will come back or not."

"It is a curious thing, too," the Observant Citizen added, "how many articles are recovered through advertising in the daily papers. Now, my wife lost a common ordinary brown leather wallet several weeks ago. There was a little money in it, about $3, and she gave it up for lost. I said advertise for it, but she wouldn't. Then I tried an 'ad' in The Times on my own hook. It was five days after the loss, but it worked all right. A small boy came to the house that night with the pocketbook. He said he had been watching for somebody to advertise for it. I gave him a dollar for his honesty. Now that's personal."

"But look at the list of articles advertised in The Times this morning. Here's a black Sicilian cloth, Eton jacket dropped in a depot. Then there's a pocketbook, and two purses. But that isn't all. There's an oval-shaped locket and a bridle and white bulldog. If that isn't a compilation to make the old resident declare that Georgetown was founded soon enough, then you can't row me about the river."

SEVERE STORM COOLS LOCAL ATMOSPHERE

Washington Hottest City in Country Yesterday.

Wind and Rain Brought Needed Relief to Many Sweltering and Suffering People.

The weather man outdid himself yesterday in giving Washington the hottest day, together with the severest storm of the summer, in fact, Washington was the hottest place of any importance in the United States yesterday, the mercury registering within 1 degree of the century mark.

The three cities next to Washington in heat, from the viewpoint of the weather man, were Jacksonville, Fla., Little Rock, Ark., and Atlanta, Ga., each with a temperature of 94 degrees. The storms which visited Washington in the afternoon cooled the atmosphere to a large extent, and probably kept the mercury from crawling out of the top of many thermometers.

The hottest time in the day was registered by the official thermometer at the Weather Bureau at 12 o'clock noon. At that hour the official thermometer showed 99 degrees. Shortly afterward it began to get cooler. At 2 o'clock a severe storm, accompanied by rain, wind and lightning, which lasted about an hour, visited the city and cooled everything off considerably. This storm was rapidly followed by another, fiercer than the first, which was also accompanied by a very severe electrical storm. While it lasted considerable damage was done.

The northeast section of the city caught the heaviest part of the storm. Several trees were blown down and other damage done.

Tree at White House.

A tree in the White House grounds was blown down. The tree was one of the handiwork in the grounds and one of the oldest. It stood just south of the mansion.

Policeman C. R. Simpson, of the First precinct, had a narrow escape from being killed by lightning. He was standing under the awning surrounding the Academy of Music. Several other persons were with him. The cupola of the building was struck by lightning and the roof was badly damaged. The lightning ran down the brick wall of the building within a few feet of where he was standing. Persons in the doorway of a store on the opposite side of the street say that they saw the lightning strike completely around the cupola and the persons standing with him. One or two persons ran across the street thinking that all of them had been killed.

Mr. John W. Reed's residence, 425 M Street northeast, was struck by lightning and the tower was damaged to the extent of $25.

One Case of Prostration.
There was but one case of heat prostration brought to the attention of the hospital authorities yesterday. Charles Connors, of 104 G Street northwest, was overcome by the heat at the northwest corner of Sixth and D Streets northwest. Policeman M. J. Flynn, of the Police Court squad, rendered aid to the sick man until the ambulance from Emergency Hospital arrived. The weather forecaster promises more comfortable weather for today.

TO USE THE GUNBOAT HIST.

Rear Admiral Cooper to Raise His Two Starred Pennant.

The gunboat Hist, Lieut. Victor Blue commanding, has been assigned to the use of Rear Admiral Philip H. Cooper, who is in charge of the preparations for naval war defense along the middle Atlantic coast.

He will raise his two starred pennant on her when he starts to put his defense plans in operation.

NOTHING TO EXPLAIN MR. JOHNSON'S SUICIDE

Police and Friends Search for Some Reason.

Had Been Chatting Pleasantly Before Sending Bullet Into His Brain.

Up to a late hour last night the local police had not been able to secure any information tending to show why George T. Johnson, of 3105 P Street northwest, committed suicide yesterday morning. The police and the unfortunate man's friends have searched everywhere for some clue.

Yesterday morning Mr. Johnson was talking to his brother, William Johnson, and a friend, Mr. Roy Payne, on the back porch of the Johnson house. They were holding an ordinary conversation, talking and laughing. About 10:45 o'clock George Johnson said he was going up to his room to lay down a moment. A few moments later the two friends who were still talking on the porch heard a shot fired from the direction of Johnson's room.

William Johnson immediately ran to George Johnson's room, where he found his brother lying in a pool of blood in the middle of the floor with a smoking revolver in his left hand and a bullet hole in his left temple.

Ran for Doctor.

Mr. Payne ran to Dr. Reginald Munson's office just across the street from the home of the suicide. The doctor responded quickly, but on his arrival saw that the shot had been fatal and that nothing could be done to save the man's life.

Mr. Johnson's family say that the only thing to which they can attribute the suicide is despondency. They say that he has been sick for several months past and his ill health has preyed on his mind a great deal. The death of his mother about month ago preyed upon his mind largely.

Mr. Johnson was married last Tuesday. His bride was Miss Mary Devine, daughter of Mr. Thomas Devine, of 1417 Thirtieth Street northwest. When she heard what her husband had done she broke down completely.

Opinion of Coroner.

Coroner Nevitt made a thorough investigation. He said last night that it was a plain suicide. He said there was nothing suspicious about Johnson having his revolver in his left hand, as the fact that he was left handed was fully corroborated by his friends.

The bullet was fired from the revolver held in his left hand and entered the brain through the left temple. Dr. Nevitt issued a certificate of death by suicide.

Mr. Johnson was thirty-three years old, and a machinist by trade. He has been in the employ of Cropley, Butler & Co., hardware dealers, 3113 M Street northwest, for over fifteen years. He is survived by a widow, - father, William Johnson, of Dayton, Ohio; a brother, also named William Johnson, and a married sister.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been decided upon. It is expected that these will be fixed up by this afternoon.

FEW GOVERNORS RESPOND.

Large Display at Fort Riley War Maneuvers Not Expected by Root.

Few responses have been received at the War Department to its invitation sent governors of States to be represented at the Fort Riley general encampment next autumn by a part of their National Guard.

Secretary Root does not expect a large display this year, owing to the short time given the States to make arrangements, and was never hopeful that a large number of the Eastern organizations would be present, on account of the expense involved incident to transportation.

THRONGS AT A SHRINE.

Pilgrims Seek to Be Healed by Relic in New York.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The throngs of Roman Catholic pilgrims attending the masses held today in the Church of St. Jean Baptiste were greater than at the opening of the novena, or nine days' prayer, yesterday. Women in silks and others in tattered garments knelt side by side this morning at the shrine where the healing relic of St. Anne is publicly exposed by Father Constantine. The cripples and blind, in large numbers, at each of the masses were led in and out of the sacred edifice.

Justice Fitzgerald, on his way downtown to the supreme court this forenoon, elbowed his way through the crowd to enter the basement of the little church. Thus far no miraculous cures have been announced.

MR. PRESSEY A DIRECTOR.

ALBANY, July 18.—The Intervale Traction Company was incorporated today, with a capital of $300,000, to construct in Orange county an electric road twenty-eight miles long between Newburgh and Goshen. The road is to connect with existing lines in Goshen and Newburgh. Among the directors is Henry A. Pressey, of Washington.
